Exhibition run dates: May 16 – September 22, 2019
Minnesota Museum of American Art | Henrietta Schmoll Rauenhorst Court

St. Paul, MN, May 13, 2019: Inspired by countless rides and visual journeys, Minneapolis-based artist Dietrich Sieling's site-responsive installation at Minnesota Museum of American Art (the M) reflects his longtime love for the interior rectangular world of the city bus: the green exit door lights, the seated and standing passengers, the windows, the brilliant sun, the weather, the rolling spectacle of day-to-night, the avenues and streets. Turning an ordinary experience like taking public transportation into a fantastical burst of dynamic shapes and colors, Sieling's art reminds us to find wonder in the everyday. The artist's passionate and joyful engagement with this subject matter inspired his labor-intensive practice of creating elaborate colored-pencil drawings on yards and yards of paper and plexiglass.

Sieling's artwork has been featured in solo exhibitions at Bockley Gallery and Forage Modern Workshop in Minneapolis, Kabinett & Kammer and Governors Island, both in New York City. His work has also been included in group exhibitions at the Plains Art Museum in Fargo, ND, and Honeycomb Salon and Intermedia Arts in Minneapolis.

Minnesota Museum of American Art is one of the oldest visual arts organizations in Minnesota, with roots stretching back to the 19th century. Based in St. Paul, the M currently holds more than 5,000 artworks that showcase the unique voices of American artists, guided by the belief that art should reflect the constantly shifting landscape that defines the American experience. The M just opened its new museum facility in the Historic Pioneer Endicott in December 2018 and will expand further, with additional permanent collection galleries, in 2020.
